

Brian E. Koch, MD

Office Phone: 615-263-6500

E-mail: KockBE@TnOrtho.com

Specialities:

- Joint Replacement
- Shoulder
- Sports Medicine

Locations:

- Hendersonville
- Gallatin

Education & Fellowship

Undergraduate

Ohio State University (B.S. - Biology - 1994)
Summa Cum Laude

Medical School

Ohio State University College of Medicine and Public Health (M.D. - 1998)
Cum Laude

Residency

Orthopaedic Surgery
University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics
Madison, Wisconsin (1998-2003)

Fellowship

Sports Medicine
Dr. James Andrews
American Sports Medicine Institute
Birmingham, Alabama (2003-2004)

Certifications

American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery (ABOS)
Board certified since July 2006

Awards

Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Society

Dr. Brian Koch (pronounced "Cook") joined TOA in August 2004 following the completion of a one year sports medicine fellowship at the prestigious American Sports Medicine Institute with the world renowned Dr. James Andrews in Birmingham, AL. Dr. Koch is a shoulder and knee specialist with special interests in sports medicine, minimally invasive arthroscopic surgery, Joint Replacement, fracture care, and workman's compensation injuries.

His education began at The Ohio State University where he graduated summa cum laude with a BS in Biology in 1994. He then also completed medical school at The Ohio State University graduating cum laude, 7th in a class of 210. His residency in orthopaedic surgery was completed at The University of Wisconsin Hospitals and Clinics in Madison, WI in 2003.

Dr. Koch is the team physician for Gallatin High School, Station Camp High School, and Volunteer State Community College athletic programs. He also serves as a consultant to the athletic trainers at several other Sumner County high schools, as well as schools in the adjacent northern middle TN counties. He played varsity baseball at the collegiate level and has a special understanding and interest in the care of the athlete. He is an active staff member at Hendersonville Medical Center & Sumner Regional Medical Center in Gallatin.

In his free time, Dr. Koch enjoys spending time with his wife Annie and 3 children. He is a sponsor for the X3/Optimum Endurance Triathlon Team and is a competitive triathlete.